John Redmond, Irishman by birth, educated at an Irish university and elected by an Irish constituency, John Redmond has fought the battles of his native soil for twenty-five years in the name of parliament. His death at this time is unfortunate for no one man stood for Ireland in the House of Commons more directly than did Redmond. His work will live after him and when home rule is absolutely granted to Ireland it will be a monument to John Redmond, such as no sculptor could carve.

LOCAL CONDITIONS.
 It is needless to state that care should be taken to select only good, honest and well-meaning men as candidates for the city offices at the coming election. The Gazette has no suggestions to offer as to possible candidates. If we are to return to the old form of government let us have practical business men, not practical politicians; let us have good, honest men who will do their duty.

Private Clyde Nettis is now on duty in the kitchen, endeavoring to master the art of army cooking. Clyde says that though he is a strong believer in the value of the military life, he could not be separated from Jimmy Collins, so he became a martyr and put on the white apron.

Sergeant Roy Manwhiney, one of the strongest advocates of week end passes, has suddenly decided that he will stay near the barracks for a while in the future. Private Fanoz, ex-Pinkerton, is working on the mystery, but it still remains unsolved.

Company "D" was honored at muster by an inspection of quarters by Brigadier General Martin, commander of the 33rd Machine Gun Battalion. The General complimented the officers and men highly on the discipline and appearance of the company.

Clothing and equipment is being issued each day to the new men in section D of the recruit company. Supply Sergeant Raymond Gallaher expects to have them clothed soon so completely that it will be impossible to tell that they are the "store clothes soldiers" who joined the company February 24th.

Lance Corporal Roy Cannon of Janesville is on the casualty list. Cannon fell with a machine gun tripod during drill and had the misfortune to break the second finger of his left hand.

Private Chester Christensen has been relieved from special duty at the Camp Library and is now back with the company.

First Class Privates William Joyce and Cy Montgomery have formed a partnership. They are to engage in the tailoring business.

Second Lieutenant Charles D. Denning, formerly of the 33rd Machine Gun Battalion, and Lieut. Albert M. Mackey, formerly of Company C, this Battalion, have been attached to Company D for duty.

First Sergeant Howard Smith is looking for a new manager to conduct his future contests of accomplishments. He states that Supply Sergeant Raymond Gallaher is doing a splendid job of his time in writing letters to "somebody in Indiana," so he has asked Gallaher to land in his resignation as contest manager. Private George Jobe is being seriously considered for the position.

Corporal Raymond Rogers Thomas and First Class Private Walter Maher are two of the busiest men in the company. They are the day in and day out keep coming as fast in the future as they have this week they will form a walkout and leave the National Army on its own merits.

Private Edward Schenck of Janesville was the recipient of bad news last night. In his mail was a newspaper from the old country, which contained the death notice of an old school mate. As Privates Schenck and Jehu were the only ones able to read the paper, the men of the company are inclined to believe that Schenck is simply using the news to obtain release from the new duties he has been performing this week.

Privates Norton, Butters, Hansen and Donovan have been assigned to Headquarters Company on special duty.

Private Edward Schenck has recently been making a study of the anatomy of a mule. In his report, Schenck states that he has come to the conclusion that a mule is a cross between a badger and a barbed wire fence.

Company "D" has received a gift of 130 pairs of knitted socks from Red Cross societies in Northern Wisconsin. Sergeant Gallaher has them safely stored away until the time of need.

One of the happiest men in camp Saturday was Corporal Irving Blitt of Janesville. Blitt journeyed to the Rock County capital this morning for the first time since Christmas.

First Sergeant Howard Smith spent Sunday in Prepost where he attended the convocation of the Prepost Consistory of Scottish Rite Masons.

Sergeant Cunningham has been acting First Sergeant of the new recruit company during the past few days. Everything went swimmingly until last night. Company "D" is formed for Retreat directly opposite the recruits and when Sergeant Smith dismissed the company, Dave suddenly found that part of his company was deserting him. His explanation was soon recalled the mis-

Abner Hanson returned to Waco, Texas, last evening after spending a furlough in the city at the home of his parents.

There will be English services at the German Lutheran church on Sunday morning. Every one is cordially invited.

J. Hruska was a Chicago passenger last evening.

Ex-Governor Hanley will give a public lecture at Royal Hall March 27th. No admission will be charged and the public is invited to attend.

Miss Helen Coon and Miss Iva Tracy were Bowler City visitors yesterday.

Perry Watson, son of Wm. Watson, and Luther Morris of Seneca, Ill., were in the city yesterday to attend the funeral of the late Wm. Watson.

Mr. W. T. Bomero is a Madison visitor for a few days visiting at the home of her daughter Mrs. Miller.

Mrs. P. M. Ellingson and daughter Ruth have gone to Pensacola, Fla., and will spend the remainder of the winter in the south. They will also visit other points of interest.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. will meet at the library tomorrow afternoon and will do Red Cross work.

The Men's Club will meet at the home of J. W. Conn on Friday evening. Dr. Morrison will lead the meeting.

Word comes to the city from Camp Pike Ark., from Paul Starke that he is now a member of Motor Truck Co. 2, 212 2nd St. He is enjoying the best of health.

W. W. Hammond, Lee Alder and Dean Swift have turned in their field glasses to the government for use during the war. Anyone having a field glass will confer a favor by turning in their glasses to the government for use during the war. The glasses will be properly tagged and will be returned to their owner after the war.

ROCK COUNTY BOYS WELL PLEASED WITH LIFE AT CAMP GRANT

Local young men members of Co. D, 33rd Machine Gun Battalion, are very well pleased with conditions at Camp Grant and many of them have been heard to say that they would like to spend the summer near Rockford.

Weather conditions have been very fine for the past few days and all of the men are taking advantage of the warm weather. Baseball and outdoor basketball are now in full swing under the direction of Sergeant Paul Scott.

COMPANY "D" NOTES.
 On Friday last Class Archie K. Van Norman of Beloit, Private James P. Moque were discharged from the federal service on surgeon's certificates of disability. Both of these men were very popular members of the company and their loss is regretted by all.

Private Clyde Nettis is now on duty in the kitchen, endeavoring to master the art of army cooking. Clyde says that though he is a strong believer in the value of the military life, he could not be separated from Jimmy Collins, so he became a martyr and put on the white apron.

 The recruits of the 33rd Machine Gun Battalion who reported during the morning parade were:

"Remember! You are Machine Gunners" is a phrase that is being emphasized and instilled in them. Great satisfaction is felt by their commander, 1st Lieut. W. K. Flowerree, who has already succeeded in taking the bulge from between the shoulder blades of his charges.

The recruits are being drilled in the use of the machine gun, the bayonet and other North Side districts. A beef, it is metamorphosed into a savory sippet of golden brown. In fact, he is the original cook Walter B. Elstam, 4611 N. Racine avenue, has demonstrated and continues to demonstrate that the Hooverian theory of "more wheat, less meat" is practically feasible. And then Cook Carl F. Parker, Man-Maker, 1718 Devon avenue, Parker can take a 130-lb. recruit and in two months develop him into a 160-lb. machine gunner through careful, scientific feeding. As an example of the Parker system of Diet, the recruits are referred to Sergeant Arthur L. Schurps, 1503 Duquesne avenue, an enthusiastic disciple of the Parker method, who is steadily gaining weight and hopes to be normal before the war is over.

The following names of enlisted men of the 33rd Machine Gun Battalion, have been transferred to Headquarters Troop 5th Division, M. A. Camp, Camp 11, a company of Capt. William Kenney. They will be trained in all the arts of equitation and hippology, or the care and mastery of the noble horse.

BELOIT POSTOFFICE SQUAD WHIPS LOCALS

Beloit Wins from Local Post Office by Margin of Only Five Pins in Hotly Contested Match.

In a hotly contested match game at the West Side alleys last evening the Beloit post office five sneaked a victory over the local post office squad by a narrow margin of 5 pins. Although the local postal clerks won two of the three games, the high game rolled by the Gateway City men in the second game copped the match. Hayes of Beloit was high man with 201.

Hemming's painters downed Benning & Lane's bakers by a 217 pin margin. The painters were never beaten in a close contest. H. Gaffoy with 201 was high man. Tonight a picked team from the Arcadia club will open the Southern Wisconsin Bowling tournament. The team from the club will show their abilities on the alleys and some high scores are expected.

The scores of last night's match games follow:

"Y" VOLLEY TOURNEY CLOSING EXCITEDLY

All Teams Have Prospect Of Climbing Championship Title in Next Three Games.

Prospects of a victorious walk-away for the L-Boats of Huesel's in the volley tourney faded into insignificance last night at the Y. M. C. A. when the Sappers in command of Thorson put the K. O. on their early championship hopes by winning two out of the three games played. This determined spurt on the part of the Sappers had the effect to put the championship title within the reach of every team as the averages are very close and only three more games are scheduled for the tourney. The L-Boats play one more game with the Drigibles of Dunwiddie which team is now leading the tourney. The championship game warm, but recently the team was bolstered with some strong volley ball timber, and thus the Submarines are assured of full-man-sized job when they meet. Despite the handicap under which the Drigibles now labor they have bright prospects of winning due to the fact that they play two more games whereas all the other teams only play one. Dunwiddie's team plays Thorson's tonight. Thorson's and Tallman's warriors meet once more and Dunwiddie and Huesel meet for the last and probably the deciding game of the tourney.

LOCAL MAN APPOINTED SERGEANT IN THE ENGINEERS LEAVES FOR OVERSEAS DUTY

Daniel Healy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Healy, North Bluff street, who left this city with the second contingent of the draft on September 18th and assigned to Co. C, 331st Machine Gun Battalion, has been transferred to the First Provisional Co. of 13th Engineers and left early this week for Somewhere in New Jersey, from where he will soon sail for France. Mr. Healy, well known in this city, where he has been employed as a conductor on the C. M. & St. J. for a number of years, was appointed sergeant in his new company and will go to France as a railroad conductor. Mr. Healy was one of the first men in Camp Grant to volunteer for the new organization and with his experience as a railroad man should prove a very valuable man. Sergeant Healy was one of the most popular men in his company and his comrades all wish him the best of luck while he is "Over There."

NORTH SPRING VALLEY

North Spring Valley, March 7.—The various assistants under Captain C. F. Ennis are now covering the town collecting the war fund as apportioned to each one. All are responding to the drive cheerfully. Miss Donahue, a Janesville visitor Saturday and Sunday. Mrs. M. J. Harper and Miss Beth Palmer were Brodhead callers Saturday. Morris Gilbert has returned to his home after a year's work at A. W. Palmer's. The dairymen of the town are pleased with the advance to $3.10 for their contend they have not received enough to pay expenses. Several farmers attended the Larsen sale in Magnolia Tuesday. Herman Man has purchased a ready made garage. The roads have been opened and the postmen are making their regular trips. Ray Fisher is slated to pitch for the senior team at Fort St. Louis during the coming season.

HIGH FIVE PLAYS AT WHITEWATER TONIGHT

First Games of Sectional Normal Tournament Will Be Played—Locals to Play University High.

Captain "Bill" Fiern and his high school basketball squad left this afternoon at 4:40 o'clock for Whitewater, where they will take part in the southern Wisconsin high school tournament, which will be held at Stevens Point normal later in the season. The teams which will be there in addition to Janesville are: Fort Atkinson, Delavan, Whitewater, Jefferson, Evansville, university high and Madison high school.

In the drawings held on Tuesday the high school five was pitted against the university high school of Madison and the game is slated for this evening. The drawing of the university five was a surprise to the locals because they had just played a game last Friday evening and were defeated by the score of 25 to 18. On a neutral floor, however, the result may be different. During the past two or three days which high school five have been put in condition for the game and are ready to put up the battle of their lives. A victory tonight will give Janesville a chance to get into the games Friday and Saturday evenings. The men who made the trip are: Captain Fiern, Sprackling, Nuzum, Nichols, Lane, Hager and Paul.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS IN TOURNEYS TODAY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Milwaukee, March 7.—Sectional tournaments which will eliminate all but ten teams from the state high school basketball championship were opened today in ten sections of the state. The schedule in most places will cover three days.

Sectional tournaments are slated at Oshkosh, Superior, Milwaukee, River Falls, Whitewater, Platteville, Menomonie, Stevens Point, Eau Claire and La Crosse.

Winners in these ten sectional conferences will play in the state finals at Stevens Point March 21, 22 and 23. Cups and medals are offered in sectional tournaments as well as state.

ELLISON WILL PLAY WITH THE BELOIT CLUB

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Detroit, March 7.—Bert Ellison, promising young recruit from the St. Paul club of the American Association, probably will return to the Detroit Americans this spring. Ellison applied for enlistment in the aviation service but for some reason not known to President Nixson of the Detroit club, did not enlist or was not accepted. His signed contract has been received. Ellison was with the Tigers last spring. He showed much promise and was sent to St. Paul for seasoning. He starred in the Association, a hitter and proved a capable power in the infield or outfield. He probably will be used by Manager Jennings as a utility man.

"How long and two short," answered the station master.

Graves, wondering vaguely what sort of telephone system was in use on Cape Cod, heard his prospective pilot ring the instrument for a full two seconds, repeating the ring four times altogether. This he followed with two sharp tinkles. Then came a series of sound "ticks" and at last fragments of one-half of a dialogue.

"That you, Shattuck? Know who this is, don't you? Yes, that's right. Say, how many folks listen every time a bell rings on this line? I've heard no less'n eight receivers come down so far. Two of 'em went up then. Did you hear 'em? Sartlin, I want to hire 'em to go over some with. Tonight."

BANKER'S WIFE ADVISES JANESVILLE WOMEN

I had stomach trouble so bad I could eat nothing but toast. Four or five weeks. Everything else soured or turned acid. I was miserable until I tried BEECHAM'S PILLS. This helped me. I feel like a new woman. I advise all the ladies of the entire town to try BEECHAM'S PILLS. They are the only pills that cure constipation and all the troubles that come from it. The BEECHAM'S PILLS are the only pills that cure constipation and all the troubles that come from it. The BEECHAM'S PILLS are the only pills that cure constipation and all the troubles that come from it.

WHEN you wish somebody would invent something new to eat you need BEECHAM'S PILLS. Even when digestion is good poisons are formed during its processes that unless eliminated irritate mind as well as body.

DRIVE AWAY HEADACHE

Rub Musterole on Forehead and Temples

A headache remedy without the dangers of "headache medicine." Relieves headache and that miserable feeling from colds or congestion. And acts at once. Musterole is a clean, white, ointment made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister. Used only externally, and in no way can it affect stomach and heart, as some internal medicines do.

Excellent for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, all pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). 25c and 50c jars; hospital size $2.50.

To Stop a Persistent, Hacking Cough

This best remedy is one you can easily make at home. Cheap, but very effective.

Thousands of people normally healthy in every other respect, are annoyed with a persistent hacking cough. This is often the first sign of a serious condition. It is a sign that the lungs are being attacked by a germ. It is a sign that the lungs are being attacked by a germ. It is a sign that the lungs are being attacked by a germ.

"Sartlin, I don't care. Yes, you will too. Yes, you will. Send my man back with it tomorrow. I don't care what it is, so it's got four legs and wheels."

And so on for at least five minutes. Then the captain hung up the receiver and came back to the waiting room.

"Bargain's made, Mr. Graves," he announced. "I'll have some sort of a turnout alongside soon he can get it harnessed. If you've got any extra storm duds in that satchel of yours I'd advise you to put 'em on. We're going to have a rough passage."

Just how rough it was likely to be, Graves realized when he emerged from the station to board the Shattuck buggy. Pete himself had driven the equipage over from the livery stable.

"I wouldn't do this for anybody but you, cap'n," he volunteered in what might be called a reproachful shout.

"Wouldn't do what?" replied the captain, looking first at the ancient horse and then at the battered buggy.

"Let this horse out a night like this."

"Humph! I should think night would be the only time you would let him out. There, there! Never mind. Get aboard, Mr. Graves. Put your satchel on the floor between your feet. Here, let me hold that boot for you."

The "boot" was a rubber curtain buttoned across the front of the buggy, extending from the dashboard to just below the level of the driver's eyes.

The captain followed the end of the reins was passed through a slit in the boot. Mr. Shattuck, after inquiring if they were "all taut," gave the command, "Hold-dap!" and horse and buggy moved around the corner of the station out into darkness.

The view ahead, over the boot, was blackness, bordered by spidery trees, and branches whipping in the wind. Occasionally they passed houses sitting well back from the road, a lighted window gleaming cozily. And ever as they moved, the storm seemed to gather force.

"It's blowing worse than ever. Isn't it?" yelled the nervous Graves.

"Hey? No; just about the same. It's dead southwest, and we're getting out of the woods, that's all. Up on those bare hills we catch the full force of it right off the sound. Be there pretty soon now if this Old Hundred of a horse would quit walkin' in his sleep and really move. Them lights ahead are South Denbore."

The lights were clustered at the foot of a long and rather steep hill. Down the declivity bounced and rocked the buggy. The horse's hoofs sounded hollow on the planks of a bridge. The road narrowed and became a village street, bordered and arched by tall trees which groaned and thrashed in the hurricane. The rain, as it beat in over the boot, had, so the lawyer fancied, a salty taste.

The captain bent down. "Say, mister," he shouted, "where was it you wanted to stop? Who is it you're looking for?"

"What?"

"I say—Heavens to Betsy—how that wind does screech! I say, where's that I land you? This is South Denbore. Whose house do you want to go to?"

"I'm looking for one of your leading citizens. Elisha Warren is his name."

"What?"

"Elisha Warren, I—"

He was interrupted. There was a sharp crack overhead, followed by a tremendous rattle and crash. Then down upon the buggy descended what to Graves appeared to be an avalanche of scratching, tearing twigs and branches. They ripped away the boot and laprobe and jammed him back against the seat, their sharp points against his breast. The buggy was jerked forward a few feet and stopped short.

He heard the clatter of hoofs and shouts of "Who!" and "Stand still!" He tried to rise, but the tangle of twigs before him seemed impenetrable, so he gave it up and remained where he was. Then after an interval came a hail from the darkness:

"Hi, there! Mr. Graves, ahoy! Hurt, be you?"

"No." The lawyer's tone was doubtful. "No-o, I—I guess not. That you, captain?"

"Yes, it's me. Stand still, you fool-head. Quit your hoppin' up and down." These commands were evidently addressed to the horse. "Glad you ain't hurt. Better get out, hadn't you?"

"I—I'm not sure that I can get out. What on earth has happened?"

"Tree limb carried away. Lucky for us we got the brush end 'stead of the butt. Scooch down and see if you can't wriggle out underneath. I did."

Mr. Graves obediently "scooched." After a struggle he managed to slide under the tangle of branches and at length stood on his feet in the road beside the buggy.

Graves found his companion standing at the horse's head, holding the frightened animal by the bridle. The rain was descending in a flood.

"Well," gasped the agitated New Yorker, "it'll be nanged if this isn't— 'Ain't it? But say, Mr. Graves, who did you say was comin' to see?"

"Oh, a person named Elisha Warren! He lives in this forsaken hole somewhere, I believe. If I had known

"I'm not sure that I can get out."

"What an experience I must go through to reach him I'd have seen him at the devil."

From the bulky figure at the horse's head came a chuckle.

"Humph! Well, Mr. Graves, if the butt of that limb had fetched us instead of rother end I don't know but you might have seen him there. I'm Elisha Warren, and that's my house over yonder where the lights are."

CHAPTER II.

The Will of Abigail.

"THIS is your room, Mr. Graves," said Miss Abigail Baker, placing the lighted lamp on the bureau. "And here's a pair of socks and some slippers. They belong to Elisha—Cap'n Warren, that is—but he's gone. Cold water and towels and soap are in the washstand over yonder, but I guess you've had enough cold water for one night. There's plenty hot in the bathroom at the end of the hall. You needn't hurry. Supper's waited an hour and a half as 'tis. 'Twon't hurt it to wait a spell longer."

She went away, closing the door after her. The bewildered, wet and shivering New Yorker stared about the room, which, to his surprise, was warm and cozy. Radiators and a bathroom!

These were modern luxuries he would have taken for granted had Elisha Warren been the sort of man he expected to find—the country magnate, the leading citizen, fitting brother to the late A. Rodgers Warren of Fifth avenue and Wall street.

But the Captain Warren who had driven him to South Denbore in the rain was not that kind of man at all. His manner and his language were as far removed from those of the late A. Rodgers as the latter's brown-stone residence was from this big, rambling house, with its deep stairs and narrow halls, its antiquated pictures and hideous, old-fashioned wall paper; as far removed as Miss Baker, whom the captain had hurriedly introduced as "my second cousin keepin' house for me," was from the dignified butler at the mansion on Fifth avenue. Certainly this particular Warren was not fitted to be elder brother to the New York broker who had been Sylvester, Kuhn & Graves' client.

It could not be; it could not. There must be some mistake. In country towns there were likely to be several of the same name. There must be another Elisha Warren.

Meanwhile Miss Abigail had descended the stairs to the sitting room. Before a driftwood fire in a big brick fireplace.

At last, when all the biscuits but one were gone and the cake plate looked like the desert of Sahara, the captain pushed back his chair, rose and led the way into the next room. Miss Baker remained to clear the table.

"Set down by the fire, Mr. Graves," urged the captain. "Nothin' like burnin' wood to look hot and comfortable, is there? It don't always make you feel that way—that's why I put in hot water heat—but for looks and sociableness you can't beat a log fire. Smoke, do you?"

"Yes, occasionally. But, Captain Warren—"

"Here, try that. It's a cigar the judge gave me over to Ostable. He smokes that kind reglar, but if you don't like it throw it away. He ain't here to see you do it, so you won't be fined for contempt of court. I'll stick to a pipe if you don't mind. Now we're shipshape and all taut, I callate. Let's see. You wanted to talk business, I believe."

"Yes, I did. But before I begin I should like to be sure you are the Elisha Warren I came from New York to interview. I am an attorney. Have you had a brother in business in New York?"

place sat Captain Warren in his shirt sleeves, a pair of mammoth carpet slippers on his feet and the said feet stretched luxuriously out toward the blaze.

"Abbie," observed the captain, "this is so comfortable. Every time I go away from home I get into trouble, don't I? Last trip I took to Boston I lost $30, and—"

"Lost it!" interrupted Miss Baker tartly. "If lendin' Tim Foster ain't givin' it away, then I miss my guess."

"Well," with another chuckle, "Tim don't feel that way. He swore right up and down that he wouldn't take a cent—as a gift. I offered to make him a present of $10, but he looked so shocked that I apologized afore he could say no."

"Yes, and then lent him that thirty. Shocked! The only thing that would shock that good-for-nothin' is bein' set to work. When you get back a copper of that money, I'll believe the million-zum's struck, that's all."

"Hum! Well, I'll help you believe it—that is, if I have time afore I drop dead of heart disease. What I started to say was that every time I go away from home I get into trouble. Up to Boston 'twas Tim and his 'loan. To-night it's about as healthy a sou'wester as I've ever been out in. Dan fetched in the team, has he?"

"Yes; it's in the stable. He says the buggy dash is pretty well scratched up and that it's a wonder you and that Graves man wa'n't killed. Who is he, anyhow?"

"Land knows; I don't." "You don't know! Then what's he doin' here?"

"Changin' his duds, I guess. That's what I'd do if I looked as much like a drowned rat as he did."

"Elisha Warren, if you ain't the most provokin' thing! Don't be so unlikely. You know what I mean. What's he come here to this house for?"

"Don't know, Abbie. I didn't know he was comin' here till just as we got down yonder by Emery's corner. I asked him who he was lookin' for; he said 'Elisha Warren,' and then the tree caved in on us. Oh, come right in, Mr. Graves. I hope you're drier now."

Captain Warren sprang from the chair to greet his visitor, who was standing in the doorway.

"Yes, come right in, Mr. Graves," he urged cordially. "Set down by the fire and make yourself comfortable. Abbie'll have somethin' for us to eat in a jiffy. Pull up a chair."

The lawyer came forward hesitatingly.

"Thank you, captain," he said. "But before I accept more of your hospitality I feel I must be sure there is no mistake. I have come on important business, and—"

"Hold on!" The captain held up a big hand. "Don't you say another word. There's just one business that interests me this minute, and that's supper. Set right down here. Mr. Graves, I'll try to keep you supplied with solid cargo, and Abbie'll tend to the moistenin'." Hope that teapot is full up, Abbie. Hot tea tastes good after you've swallowed as much cold rain as Mr. Graves and I have. . . . Father, we thank thee for these mercies set before us. Amen! . . . How's your appetite when it comes to clam pie, Mr. Graves?"

Mr. Graves' appetite was good, and the clam pie was good. So, too, were the hot biscuits and the tea and homemade preserves and cake.

At last, when all the biscuits but one were gone and the cake plate looked like the desert of Sahara, the captain pushed back his chair, rose and led the way into the next room. Miss Baker remained to clear the table.

"Set down by the fire, Mr. Graves," urged the captain. "Nothin' like burnin' wood to look hot and comfortable, is there? It don't always make you feel that way—that's why I put in hot water heat—but for looks and sociableness you can't beat a log fire. Smoke, do you?"

Dinner Stories

"Smith gave me a couple of seats for the theater today. I'm hopping! I'll get ready immediately."

"Do, and p'raps you'll be in time for once. The seats are for tomorrow evening."

Chairman Hurley of the shipping board said at a dinner party: "The German government keeps on declaring that victory is almost in sight, and meanwhile country after country breaks with it."

The German people, hearing government boasts on the one hand and the war declarations of the whole wide world on the other, must feel sadly bewildered. Yes, the German people must feel a good deal like the lady who said on her return from the store:

"Did the master seem to miss me, Bridget?"

"Sure, mum. Oi didn't notice it so much at first," said Bridget, "but yesterday he wuz in despair like."

The story is told of two traveling salesmen, detained in a little village hotel in the west. They were introduced to a crazy little billiard table and a set of balls which were of a uniform, dirty-gray color.

"But how do you tell the red from the white?" asked one of the drummers.

"That's easy," said the landlord. "You soon get to know 'em by their shape."

"In England we do not have Democrats and Republicans as you do in this country. We have Conservatives and Liberals."

"How liberal are they?" asked the other man.
